Host:

Assoc.-Prof. Irma Schabussova, Medical University of Vienna

Dr. Madhusudhan Bobbili completed his PhD at BOKU University, focusing on the development of novel tools to study extracellular vesicles in aging and disease. He subsequently joined the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Traumatology as a Senior Postdoctoral Researcher and continues to serve as a University Assistant at BOKU. His research focuses on the bioengineering of extracellular vesicles for targeted drug delivery, alongside the development of scalable downstream processing strategies to improve immunological safety for therapeutic applications.
